Happy New Year!

We are very grateful to you and your organization for your support of the UWEBC, and we look forward to continuing to serve as a valuable resource in 2022 through our peer learning events and research and advisory services. The UWEBC team is hard at work planning an incredible year of peer learning events and networking opportunities to help your team and organization leverage business best practices, emerging technologies and innovative strategies to gain competitive advantage. Some of our 2022 events will include opportunities to join us in person as well!

Based on member feedback and interest, here are just a few of the event topics that we are considering this year across UWEBC’s five practice areas: Customer Service, Human Resources, IT, Marketing and Supply Chain Management.

Customer Service:

- Approaches to using direct and indirect methods to measure and assess customers’ experience with customer service
- Digital self-service approaches/practices and migrating contact volume from assisted to self-service channels

Human Resources:
Hiring and talent acquisition to meet changing skill needs and new work realities
Improve employee well-being and engagement in the hybrid organization

Information Technology:
- Cloud and devops to accelerate development and enable continuous delivery of customer value
- IT talent scarcity & enhancing IT relationships with the business

Marketing:
- Marketing analytics team and culture: best practices to integrate analytics throughout marketing decision-making and operations
- Personalization: learn how to best tailor messaging and touchpoints to optimize relevance based on what your customers and prospects want and need

Supply Chain Management:
- Supply chain resilience: approaches to balance cost vs flow
- Upskilling your supply chain team to solve tomorrow's problems

A Look Around the Corner: IT Trends for 2022

In the December 6 Information Technology Peer Group Meeting, participants captured a glimpse of the upcoming year in technology trends, enabling the propulsion of businesses to new heights in 2022. Whether it be accelerating growth, sculpting change or engineering trust, 2022 is sure to be an innovative year for our member companies. This event was also our second that had both an in-person and virtual aspect, catering to the needs of each participant.

Focusing on the most important elements to success, speakers Douglas Laney (Innovation Fellow, West Monroe), Shawn Belling (Chief Information Officer, Madison College), and Gustav Toppenberg (Founder & Principal Consultant, Janus Insights) shared their insights on effective remote leadership, utilizing data as an asset, and the relationship between technology and business.
